Forecast for Tuesday 12 Jul 2022

Weather: The morning will be rather cloudy with a little light rain in places. Areas of low cloud will edge southwards through the afternoon, although southern fells may remain dry and bright until late afternoon. Staying mostly dry in the afternoon, although a little drizzly rain possible across ranges closest to the Irish Sea coast. Drizzle becoming more extensive for a time in the evening then turning drier and clearer towards midnight.

Chance of cloud-free hill tops above 800m: 90%, becoming 20% in the evening.

Low cloud and visibility: Very good in the morning with good air clarity, some thin patchy cloud around 350 metres at first around Ulverston and Broughton in Furness. Low cloud will slowly become more extensive from the north from late in the afternoon, down to 700 to 900 metres, but some uncertainty in the timing of this.
